About Good Sports

- Good Sports drives equitable access in youth sports and physical activity, by supporting children in high-need communities to achieve their greatest potential, on the field and in life.
- The cost of youth sports keeps many children from experiencing the full mental, social, emotional, and physical health benefits of active play. Youth from low-income homes discontinue sports due to financial reasons at a rate of six times kids from high-income homes (Aspen Institute, 2020).
- By leveraging their deep partnerships with the sport goods industry, Good Sports gets crucial equipment to kids who need it most, getting them off the sidelines and into the game.
- To date, Good Sports has donated more than $88 million of sports and fitness equipment to over 9 million kids in 6,100+ community organizations across all 50 states.

History of Legends

Good Sports' Annual Legends Gala, now in its 12th year, is a fundraising event, which brings together supporters of the Good Sports mission to help get more kids in the game. This event audience includes 250 business and sports industry professionals, an established and successful live and silent auction, recognition partners and community leaders for their work in their communities and much more.
